

What would found the field - and what would falsify it

A prospective comparison path. The field hypothesis strengthens only if a cross-domain residual survives the strongest parent composition under matched information; every other terminal is a legitimate scientific outcome.

